DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Species 1, shown in Figures 2-7 and reading on claims 1-18 and 22-29 (claims 1-3, 7-18, 22-23, and 27-29 being generic) in the reply filed on 1/18/05 is acknowledged. Claims 19-21 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected Species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 7, 8, 14-18, and 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Piper.

The Piper reference discloses a "flush valve" comprising an inlet chamber (defined by element 16) in communication with a fluid source (see col. 1, lines 5-11), an outlet chamber (proximate reference numeral 28 in Figure 2) in communication with a "plumbing fixture" 18, a pinch valve comprising a cartridge chamber (24 and elements infra) having a cartridge chamber wall 100, a flexible sealing member/flexible wall 50, fluid inlet/fluid outlet channels/bleed openings (212, 214), and sealing members (222, 224). Regarding claim 14, see rim portion 42. Regarding claims 15 and 16, the "plumbing fixture" 16 is capable of use as a "basin" or "urinal" and thus reads on those claims. Regarding claim 18, an "attachment mechanism" can be construed as any method or apparatus which will connect the sealing member to the cartridge member, and since those two elements are disclosed as connected the Piper device reads on this claim. Regarding claim 27, the claimed method is inherently performed during the normal installation of the Piper valve.

Art Unit: 3751

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Piper in view of Nolan.

The Piper reference discloses a valve as discussed supra, but does not disclose a filter in communication with the valve. However, the Nolan reference discloses an actuator for use with valves of the type disclosed by Piper including a filter 7 for ensuring the valve fluid is clean. It would have been obvious to employ a filter with the Piper valve in view of Nolan to ensure that the valve fluid is clean.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 9-13, 28, and 29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
